

| Thuli Lubisi

Hailing from the township of Soweto in Gauteng, Thuli is currently a young artist interning in the Education Unit at Artist Proof Studio. She'd like to grow in the teaching profession and become a master printer.

As an artist, she enjoys the challenge of working according to a brief. Usually she works on landscape format so Hollard's portrait requirement pushed her out of her comfort zone. She also enjoyed learning about Hollard's role as a pillar of strength to millions of South Africans, over the past forty years.

In fact, working on this project changed my view on insurance. She learnt that it's not just about offering services but building relationships with the world outside of insurance – like this initiative, in the arts.

Thuli used the lino technique to tell the story of how Hollard has grown as an insurance company, over the past four decades. Titled Expansion, it is divided into four pieces, each in different shades of aqua. Each shade shows the growth in the services that we offer to our clients.

She identifies exhibiting at Turbine Art Fair and Joburg Art Fair, as some of the opportunities that Artist Proof Studio has given her – all before graduation. Thuli also loves the opportunity to interact with big name artists daily, learning the different ins and outs of the industry.

Thuli Lubisi
Expansion (2019)
Linocut - 42x29.5cm

Working on this project changed her view on insurance. She learnt that it's not just about offering services but building relationships with the world outside of insurance – like this initiative, in the arts. Thuli used the lino technique to tell the story of how Hollard has grown as an insurance company, over the past four decades. Titled Expansion, it is divided into four pieces, each in different shades of aqua. Each shade shows the growth in the services that we offer to our clients.